

Disclaimer

The information set forth in this website contains both historic and forward-looking information about the business of Xcalibur Logistics, LLC (the “Company”) and our management’s assessment of our future business plans, operations, and capabilities. By your use of the website, you hereby acknowledge and agree, as a current or potential customer of the Company, that: (i) such information is provided without any representation or warranty whatsoever, express or implied, as to the accuracy or completeness of any past, present, or future information or as to its suitability for your business purposes; (ii) such information is intended solely to provide general information about the services typically performed by the Company for our customers; and (iii) neither you nor the Company are bound to any obligation with respect to the use of any services offered by the Company unless and until you and the Company enter into a definitive written contract with respect to any such services (“Terms of Use”).

Our information is based upon internally generated information as well as information derived from public sources that we believe to be generally reliable with respect to past and present information, but inherently speculative with respect to our projected operational capabilities in the future, which are predicated upon a number of significant assumptions about commodity prices, market conditions, regulatory requirements, and other factors constituting forward-looking information that are material to our industry customers and therefore to our business. We do not undertake any obligation to update or otherwise revise the information contained on our website nor do we assume any responsibility for independent verification of information in the public domain that we have utilized in making our internal determinations of future market conditions and of our own business operations and capabilities. Forward-looking information is identifiable by use of such terms as “anticipate”, “believe”, “expect”, “intend”, “plan”, “project”, and similar words indicating a future projection rather than a present condition or a past occurrence.

The Company reserves the right to change the scope of its services at any time without notice, and reiterates that neither you nor the Company are bound to any terms and conditions governing the use of our services unless and until we enter into a written contract for such services. Any revisions to the information available on this website that we elect to make from time to time as we deem desirable and appropriate for our business purposes shall be governed by the same Disclaimer and Terms of Use as set forth herein.